

Kate Carlson

Kate Carlson is a second-year master's student in the Geography Department at the University of Colorado. Her research interests include geovisualization, visualization of spatio-temporal data and uncertainty, and exploratory analysis using visual tools