

Kwang il Yoo

Kwang il Yoo (Jason) is a senior graduate student at Eastern Illinois University studying Geographic Information Science. His interests include the visualization of geographic information, data management, and remote sensing. In the future, he hopes to inspire people with innovative and brilliant maps.

Barry Kronenfeld

Barry J. Kronenfeld is Associate Professor of Geography and Director of the GIScience Center at Eastern Illinois University. His research investigates innovative techniques for modeling, visualizing and analyzing spatial patterns in human and physical landscapes.