

AutoCarto 2022

NOVEMBER 2–4

Esri Campus, Redlands, CA

Ethics in Mapping: Integrity, Inclusion, and Empathy

CaGIS is pleased to announce its 24th International Research Symposium on cartography and GIScience, with a focus on the intersection of the two. This is a hybrid event for both in-person attendees and remote participants.

AutoCarto 2022 brings attention to ethical responsibilities we face in all aspects of our discipline with conversations on the power of maps and the critical need for integrity, inclusion, and empathy in cartography and GIScience. Submissions on topics from all areas of cartographic and geographic information science are welcome. Although submissions that address other topics of broader interest to the AutoCarto community are welcome, suggested topics include the following:

- Geoethics and Mapping
- Diversity, Ethics, and Equality in GIScience and Cartography
- Code of Ethics in Cartography
- Territorial Empathy
- Accuracy and Uncertainty in Data, Models, and Maps
- Ethics of Extended Reality
- Power of Maps for Equity and Social Justice
- Geotracking and Social Responsibility
- Use and Misuse of Geographic Information in Social Media
- Monetization of Movement
- Potential of GeoAI for Good and Evil
- Digital Inequities
- Storytelling for Empowerment and Action
- Privacy Issues for Imagery
