

Contents of Volume 2

GIS Aims and Objectives

Community benefits of digital spatial information T. Bernhardsen and S. Tveitdal	1
The foundation of a geographical information system for Northern Ireland M. J. D. Brand	4
A new design for the U.S. Geological Survey's National Digital Cartographic Database Stephen C. Guptill	10
A proposed base for geographic information system for India Prithvish Nag	19
Computing aspects of a large geographic information system for the European Community J. C. Wiggins, R. P. Hartley, M. J. Higgins and R.J. Whittaker	28

Soils, Geology and Land Use Mapping

Up-dating a land-use inventory Jean-Philippe Grelot and Pascal Chambon	44
TIR : A computerized cartographic soil information system F. Csillag, A. Hegedus, S. Kabos, G. Varallyay, P. Zilahy and M. Vargha	52
Digital spatial models and geological maps T. Victor Loudon	60
Development of an integrated map plotting system for hydrocarbon exploration Nigel J. Sheath	66

Experiences at the Local Level

Development of digital cadastral and topographic maps - requirements, goals and basic concept Klaus Barwinski and Heinz Bruggemann	76
TENDEX : A computerised data base of mining tenement information D. T. Pearce	86
The Burnaby experience with computerized mapping V. N. Wiebe	102
A land information system (LIS) for an urban region Erich Wilmersdorf	112

Land Information Systems

The Swedish Land Data Bank Sune Andersson	122
Digital mapping in land registration, and its relevance to the possible development of a geographic information system in the UK. P. J Smith	129
Five reasons why geographical information systems are not being used efficiently for land resources assessment P. A. Burrough	139
Trends in land information system administration in Australia Ian P. Williamson	149

Utility Mapping in the UK

Digital mapping and facilities management in a UK Water Authority John D. Bolland	162
The development of an automated mapping system for the electricity distribution system in the South Western Electricity Board G. Hoyland and D. D. Goldsworthy	171
Exchange of digital records between public utility digital mapping systems Michael J. Ives and Ron Lovett	181
Digital mapping - an information centre R. P. Mahoney	190

Digital Mapping

- Mark II : the next step in digital systems development at the U.S. Geological Survey 200
Lowell E. Starr
- Digital mapping: fact or fiction! 206
Dennis P. Franklin
- The development of digital topographic mapping in a
State Government Authority 216
Wayne McColl
- Managing the transition to supporting the production of digital geographic products in military survey 226
C. N. Thompson

Data Generalisation and Filtering

- Fourier filtering of Landsat data for information
extraction in surveying and mapping 237
G. D. Lodwick, S. H. Paine and K. Ratchinsky
- Software developments for computer-assisted generalization 247
U. Meyer
- Toward a practicable model of cartographic generalisation 257
Mark Monmonier
- Generalisation from large to medium and small scale
Ordnance Survey maps using expert system techniques 267
D. W. Vicars and G. J. Robinson

Education

- Cartographic information systems and employment generation in rural Africa 276
R. Chukudebe Bob Duru
- Design education: a methodology for incorporating computer technology in the design curriculum 286
Randy H. Gimblett and Brian B. Kelly
- The challenges to educational establishments:
preparing students for a future in LIS/GIS 296
Gerald McGrath
- Digital mapping at the Australian Key Centre for Land Information Studies 306
E. Walker

Training

- The cost constraint in automated cartographic education and training for technicians 316
A. D. Cooper, P. C. Coggins, K. R. Crossley and R. Beard
- Education and training for auto carto 320
F. S. Fortescue
- Teach yourself geographic information systems: the design, creation and use of demonstrators and tutors 327
N. P. A. Green and D. W. Rhind
- LIS education versus training : a surveying perspective 340
Anne Tyrie

Hydrographic Surveying and Charting

- A survey information processing system for hydrographer 351
D. J. Dixey, C. S. Gobey and D. L. Wardle
- The Hydrographic Department and the requirement for digital hydrographic data 361
C. R. Drinkwater and A. P. Fielding
- The National Ocean Service design for Automated Nautical Charting System II 369
James L. Lisle
- The use of GLORIA long-range sidescan sonar for deep-ocean mapping 379
R. C. Searle and P. M. Hunter

Electronic Maps and Charts

- The exploitation of digital data through electronic displays 389
Roberta L. Franklin
- Effective provision of navigation assistance to drivers: a cognitive science approach 399
David M. Mark and Matthew McGranaghan
- Canada's electronic atlas 409
E. M. Siekierska and S. Palko
- Graphical display and manipulation in two and three dimensions of digital cartographic data 418
L. W. Thorpe

Auto Carto in the Third World

A decision-making tool for land evaluation in the developing countries Peder Anker, Margaret Robb, Geir-Harald Strand and Bo Wang	431
Transfer of high technology to developing countries Jane Drummond and Pavao Stefanovic	441
Digital cadastral index maps for a land information system in Trinidad and Tobago D. Jeyanandan	452
Computer assisted cartography in developing nations D. R. F. Taylor	462

Economics and Management

Digital mapping - the Cheshire experience Ian Gilfoyle and David Challen	472
Marketing digital map data John Leonard	480
Cartographic digitising - technical trends and economic factors P. A. Woodsford	489
Assessing the consumption benefits of L.I.S. projects C. H. Weir and R. B. Swetnam	496

The Private Sector and GIS

Locational marketing analysis : a need to be informed for strategic development John R. Beaumont	515
AEGIS - a practical exercise in data management David Harris and Karen Pettigrew	521
Design of the Capital Area Development Information System ( CADIS ) , Baghdad, Iraq Jack Dangermond and Mark Sorensen	530
Geographic information systems and the BBC's Domesday interactive videodisk Stan Openshaw and Helen Mounsey	540
Abstracts of Short Presentations and Poster Sessions	548